Subject: Application for Reimbursement of the FDP fees.

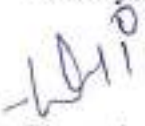

Dear Ma'am,

I am writing to express my thought which inclined me to attend a 5 days Faculty Development Program (completed on 10th March 2024) on Fintech organised by Grant Thornton. The field of Financial Technology (Fintech) is rapidly evolving, reshaping traditional financial services and opening up new avenues for innovation and growth. As a faculty, I know it's super important to keep up with all these changes. Attending this FDP on Fintech presents a valuable opportunity for professional development and networking.

Moreover, I believe that the knowledge and insights gained from this program will enhance my ability to deliver high-quality instruction, and provide help to students in pursuing careers in finance and technology. So, with the willingness to enhance my knowledge and the motivation given by Dr. N R Telrandhe, I have completed the FDP on the above topic.

It's a request to please approve the reimbursement of my fees paid for this FDP.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Ms. Wrushali Bhamare,

Finance Faculty

ABS

(Date of joining -8th jan 2024)

she is new faculty in finance dept, willing to learn new areas in her domain. Forwarded to approve the financial assistance under FDP.

KNOWLEDGE MANAGEMENT IN INDUSTRY 5.0

Author:

Dr. Sarita Abhay Dhawale
Associate Professor & Director I/c.
Ashoka Business School, Nashik

Email: saritadhawale@gmail.com

Abstract:

The advent of Industry 5.0 marks a paradigm shift in the industrial landscape, propelled by the integration of advanced technologies such as artificial intelligence, the Internet of Things, and robotics. At the heart of this transformation lies the strategic management of knowledge, a critical asset in the dynamic intersection of technology and industry. This study endeavours to explore the multifaceted role and functions of knowledge management within the context of Industry 5.0, aiming to assess its significance, applications, challenges, and ethical considerations.

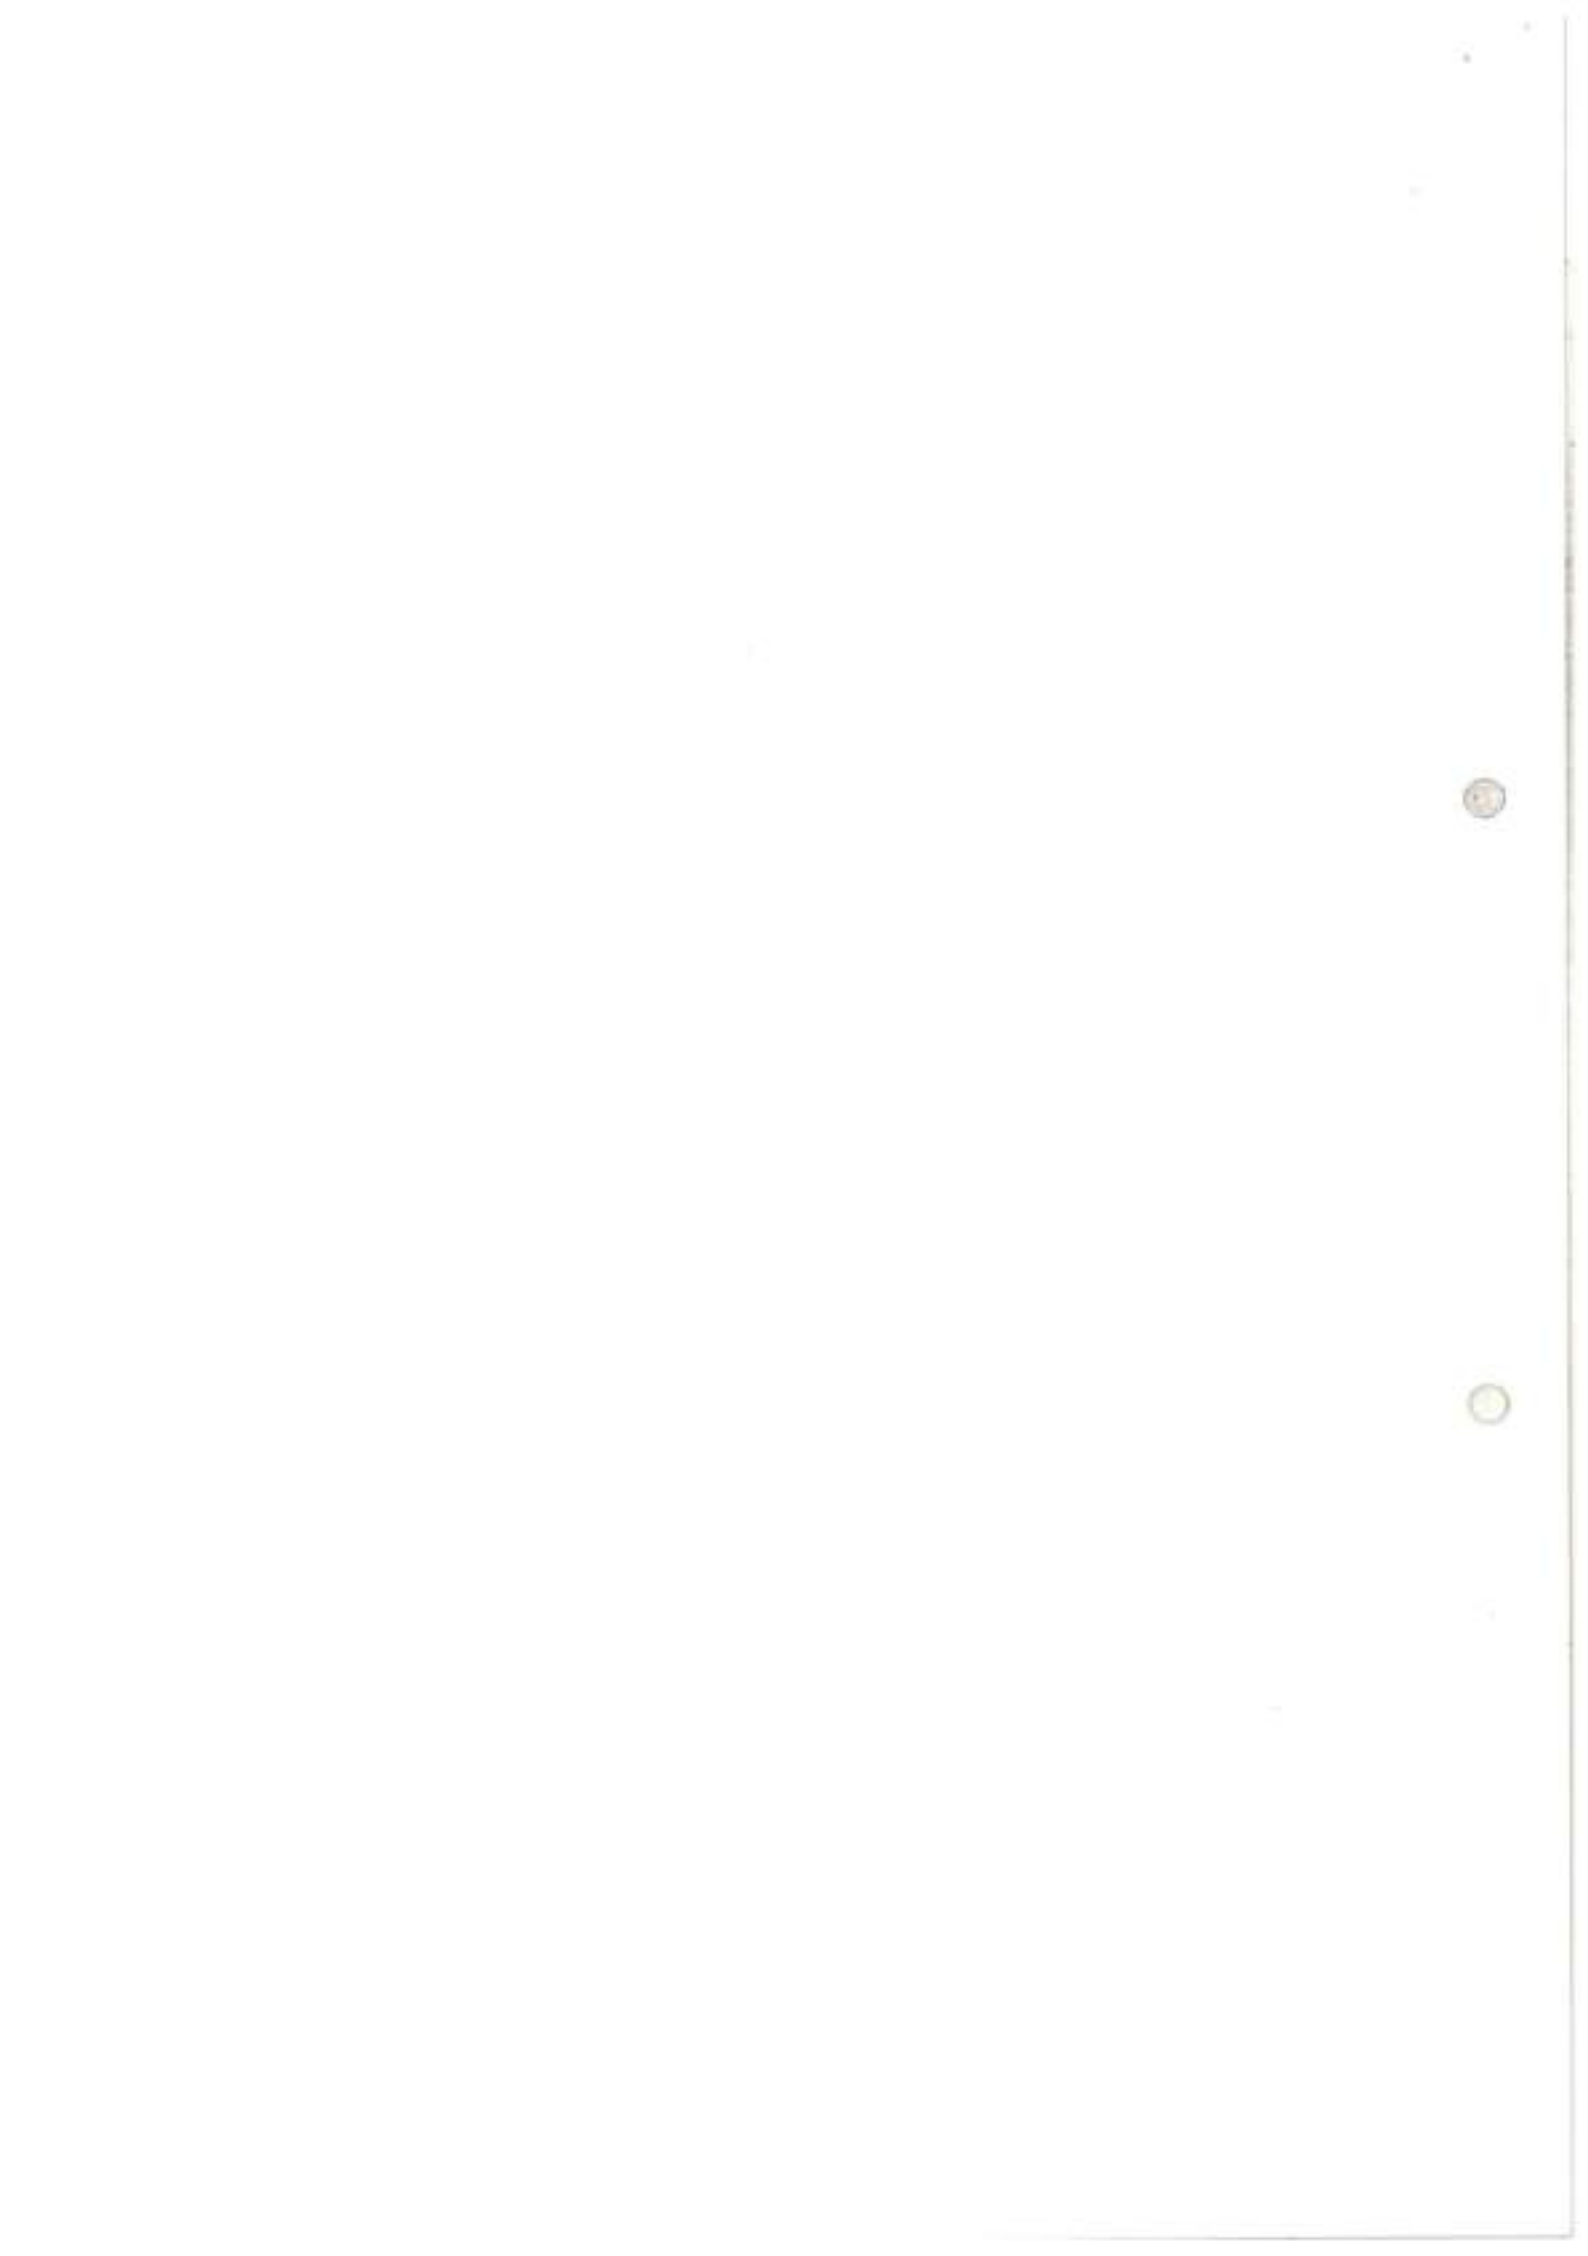

The first objective of this study is to evaluate the role of knowledge management in Industry 5.0, emphasizing its impact on organizational performance, innovation, and competitiveness. Through a comprehensive review of literature and empirical investigations into Industry 5.0 organizations, the research unveils the pivotal role of knowledge management as a driving force behind enhanced organizational performance, a catalyst for innovation, and a key determinant of competitiveness.

The second objective delves into the functions of knowledge management in Industry 5.0, investigating the intricacies of knowledge creation, storage, retrieval, dissemination, and application. Drawing on both quantitative and qualitative data from diverse organizations, the study illuminates the practical applications of knowledge management functions, providing insights into how these functions contribute to innovation, process optimization, and informed decision-making.

Moving beyond applications, the research identifies and analyses challenges that organizations encounter in effectively managing knowledge within the Industry 5.0 framework. Issues related to global and remote teams, cultural diversity, and ethical considerations are scrutinized, revealing the complexities that organizations must navigate to harness the full potential of knowledge management in a technologically-driven era.

Furthermore, the study explores emerging trends and technologies shaping the landscape of knowledge management in Industry 5.0. From artificial intelligence to block chain, the research investigates how these innovations influence knowledge discovery, dissemination, and security. Ethical considerations in knowledge management are examined in the context of data privacy, algorithmic bias, and responsible AI usage, paving the way for the development of guidelines for ethical knowledge sharing in Industry 5.0.

In conclusion, this study contributes to the understanding of knowledge management as a linchpin in Industry 5.0, providing a roadmap for organizations seeking to navigate the technological frontier. By assessing its role, functions, challenges, and ethical dimensions, the study offers valuable insights into how knowledge can be harnessed to drive success in the era of Industry 5.0.

The first part of the paper discusses the general theory of the subject. It is divided into two main sections: the first section deals with the general theory, and the second section deals with the special theory. The general theory is based on the principle of least action, which states that the path taken by a particle is the one that minimizes the action. This principle is used to derive the equations of motion for a particle in a potential field. The special theory deals with the case of a particle in a constant potential field, and shows that the motion is uniform.

The second part of the paper discusses the application of the theory to the case of a particle in a constant potential field. It shows that the motion is uniform, and that the velocity is constant. This is in agreement with the results of the special theory. The paper also discusses the case of a particle in a potential field that varies with position, and shows that the motion is non-uniform. The velocity of the particle varies as it moves through the potential field.

The third part of the paper discusses the application of the theory to the case of a particle in a potential field that varies with position. It shows that the motion is non-uniform, and that the velocity of the particle varies as it moves through the potential field. The paper also discusses the case of a particle in a potential field that varies with position, and shows that the motion is non-uniform. The velocity of the particle varies as it moves through the potential field.

① Abstract

Sustainability is most important for fulfilling the needs of current generations by ensuring a balance among economic growth, care for environment and social well-being. Sustainability supports long-term goal with the implementation of new ideas, systems, frameworks, and support from global, national, and local entities. The social media plays a important role in upcoming ideas of people, national, and local entities and making individuals more strong in business and also make people conscious about sustainable development, the need for more sustainable designs of production and motivating them to take action directed towards change and a high sustainable future. The evolution of social media as new technology has changed the working of the business which in turn has significantly influenced on the sustainable business. Many international organizations such as World Wide Fund for Nature, The International Eco-Tourism Society, Eco-Tourism Society of India, are become the part of sustainability development. It is observed from the literature review that the role of social media in promoting awareness in sustainability is a new concept. Socio-economic and cultural factors play an important role in promoting sustainability development. The main aim of this paper is to identify role of social media in promoting the sustainability

Key words—Sustainability, Social sustainability, environmental sustainability and economic sustainability, social media

Sustainability

Sustainability consists of fulfilling the needs of current generations without compromising the needs of future generations, while ensuring a balance between economic growth, environmental care and social well-being. sustainability refers to the ability to maintain and to support a process continuously over the period of time. Sustainability in business world had greater emphasis on the life
